About National University Golf Academy

The National University Golf Academy utilizes the latest technology and the best educators in the industry to provide onsite and online learning to students across the globe. Students can upload their swing from golf courses in Japan, Korea, or anywhere across the U.S. or around the world and receive instruction in our online swing laboratory. Our unique golf school provides golf education and instruction at multiple levels including high school and associate's and bachelor's degrees. The Academy also offers certificate programs for non-degree seekers; summer, winter, and weekend programs; and corporate and community clinics. While each academic program includes an online component that allows students from around the globe to pursue their certificate or degree, students have the option of traveling to San Diego for the on-course and instructional components of their programs.
